How can families help our students reach their goals?

ATTENDANCE MATTERS

John H. Amesse Families,

One of our areas of focus is attendance this year, because students who are not in classes are not able to stay on track to learn all the concepts that they need to successfully meet the goals for their current grade level.

We have partnered with the Colorado Rapids to reward and incentivize attendance here at John H. Amesse by giving students who achieve at least 95% attendance, prior to October 1st, a complimentary ticket to a Colorado Rapids match.

The Rapids boast one of the most family-friendly and fun game day experiences in town. From celebrating the goals together, to the roar of the stadium crowd, to the hot dogs at halftime, Colorado Rapids games are where memories can be made. The complimentary ticket will be good for the Rapids match on Saturday, October 21st at DICK'S Sporting Goods Park.

How can families support our goals?

Student Chromebooks

We have a new John H. Amesse staff member who will be supporting with technology. His name is Ian Martin.

Chromebooks have been signed to all students in Kinder through 5th grade who did not have one signed out over the summer.

If your student had a Chromebook over the summer, they must return the device and the charger, so that it can be checked in. Then a Chromebook will be issued to them for their use this year.
